

Stained Glass Encapsulation

Preserve and enjoy treasured stained glass features for generations to come

We carefully remove the original leaded light when replacing your window or door frames. Your new frame is temporarily fitted with a new double glazed unit whilst the leaded design is sent to a specialist company where it is cleaned, tightened, resized and repaired, where necessary, with authentic textured glass pieces.

The refurbished design is then sandwiched inside a modern double glazed unit and fitted into your new uPVC frame.

Main Features

- * Modern performance with a traditional feature
- * Greater security: encapsulated stained glass units are harder to break and can even be glazed into laminated or toughened glass
- * Improved thermal insulation and sound proofing
- * Retention of the original character of your property

For a more cost effective solution, we can take a tracing of your original design and replicate it onto a double glazed unit using coloured and textured films as shown in this picture.
